THIMBLE COLLECTORS INTERNATIONAL

The premier organization for thimble and needlework tool collectors

Thimble Collectors International (TCI), a non-profit organization, promotes research through our quarterly TCI Bulletins, the TCI website, biennial conventions, published booklets, and association with regional and international groups.

ABOUT US

Thimble Collectors International evolved from four national thimble collecting groups.

Meetings were held as early as 1970. At the fourth national meeting of these groups in August 1976, the attendees expressed a need for a more formal organization.

In August 1978, TCI held its first biennial convention in Northbrook, Illinois. From its simple beginnings of sharing information in a newsletter, round-robins, and small group meetings, TCI has remained true to its mission to share information and research, as well as to help build lifetime friendships.
